

KLONDIKERS IN TOWN. FIGURES ARE BOOING. NEWS FROM OVER THE STATE.

Party of Twenty-one With Upwards of $200,000.

HAD LOTS OF NUGGETS

ARE BOUND FOR THEIR EASTERN HOMES.

Returning Argonauts Were In High Spirits Over the Prospects of Speedily Meeting With Their Loved Ones After a Long Diggins Not Fruitful.

With cash and drafts to the amount of something like $200,000 safely tucked away in their clothes, a party of twenty-one Klondikers passed through Salt Lake yesterday en route to their homes in the east. The returning Argonauts were naturally in high spirits over the prospect of seeing their dear ones after months of hardships in the frozen north land.

Reticent About Their Cash.

When seen last night at the Rio Grande Western depot, different members of the party expressed themselves as having had quite enough of the Klondike. They did not care to talk about how much they had cleared up, but upon being closely pressed, one of the leaders of the party stated that their earnings ranged from $2,000 to $20,000 each, and that $200,000 would not be far from a correct estimate of the total brought out by the party.

"We are about the luckiest party out of Dawson this spring," said O. E. Nokes of Peoria, Ill. "There is not a member of the party who has not beat the Klondike country, to say the least." "Have you got any nuggets with you?" he was asked.

"Yes, I brought a few along, although it isn't safe to carry them," he replied, pulling a little buckskin sack out of his hip pocket, filled with nuggets ranging in size from a pea to a dime. "We're glad to get out alive. There are 15,000 people at Dawson, and 10,000 of that number can't get out on account of lack of cash, and there's going to be lots of suffering in that country next winter. You can't get anything to eat short of a dollar, and some of the men can't get the dollar. It's a mighty hard country to get in and out of, and it's no wonder you get in. Last Thanksgiving day it was 57 degrees below zero, and we didn't have any too much to eat, either. We've been forty-six days on the trip, and we're tired."

"Not on your tinfoy," he replied. "This party has got enough of the Klondike. We're glad to get out alive. There are 15,000 people at Dawson, and 10,000 of that number can't get out on account of lack of cash, and there's going to be lots of suffering in that country next winter. You can't get anything to eat short of a dollar, and some of the men can't get the dollar. It's a mighty hard country to get in and out of, and it's no wonder you get in. Last Thanksgiving day it was 57 degrees below zero, and we didn't have any too much to eat, either. We've been forty-six days on the trip, and we're tired."

Cape Nome Diggins. Others of the party who had investigated the story about the rich diggings at Cape Nome, ninety miles from Dawson, stated that all of the stories were fakes gotten up by such a newspaper company to increase their business.

Following is a list of the names of the party, most of whom are bound for points east of Chicago: C. M. Gillett, W. H. Gillett, William Glover, M. Mosier, C. Mosier, A. R. Smith, G. Anderson, D. Sullivan, J. McJury, C. P. Wilkes, O. E. Nokes, C. W. Gould, C. Taylor, H. H. Scott, Paul O'Brien, W. H. Adams, F. H. Jones, George W. Knapp, W. J. Ellithorpe, Mr. Fulton and Mr. McManis.

AT THE RESORTS.

A large Sunday crowd went to Lagoon yesterday. Planks and her lions appeared twice. The lions put on a new programme of specialties, and Miss Vinton was heard at her best in several new songs. The latest addition to the vaudeville company, Robert Ellis, gave two numbers. "The Sunset Gun" and "Answer." Both were well suited to his strong, burly physique, and he was heartily applauded. Bartholomew's horse show, after somewhat hurried preparation, gave about three hours of continuous performance. The intelligence exhibited by these animals was greeted with expressions of wonder and approval. They will no doubt prove a big card at the low price of admission.

The cool weather and the approach of Pioneer day kept the crowds away from Saitir Beach yesterday. The attendance was less than it has been for several weeks, or since the warm weather came on in earnest. The water was in good condition for bathing, but some of those who had a dip complained of the atmosphere being a trifle cold. The concert by Christensen's band and Macart's dog and monkey exhibitions were well received.

Big crowds are expected at all the resorts today. There will be a special Garfield time card, trains leaving the city at 7:45, 10:30, 11:30, 1:30, 3:30, 5:30, 7:30, 9:30 and 11:30.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from the first dose. She continued its use, and after taking six bottles found herself sound and well; now does her own housework and as well as her own washing. Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at Z. C. M. I. Drug Store. Only 50 cents and $1.00, every bottle guaranteed.

Wants Big Money For Volunteers' Special.

PRICE IS PROHIBITIVE

EFFORT BEING MADE TO SECURE A REDUCTION.

Unless More Satisfactory Terms Are Given By the Railroad Officials the Committee May Be Obligated to Abandon the Idea of Bringing the Soldiers Home in a Body.

Unless the Southern Pacific relinquishes its desire to make the citizens of Utah buy its road for the purpose of bringing the volunteers home over it, the committee in charge of the celebration will be compelled to abandon the special train idea. Governor Wells said yesterday that he had received figures from the road, but they were so high as to be absolutely prohibitive.

What the price named was the executive did not care to give out. He said that efforts were being made to secure a reduction and that possibly the Southern Pacific might be induced to make more reasonable terms. Unless the volunteers are brought home in a body in this way, the troubles of the celebration promoters will be many. The volunteers are likely to dribble back to Utah in small sections, and unless each little detachment is given a separate reception the general celebration will have to be postponed to some vaguely indefinite date. In spite of drawbacks and stumbling blocks, however, the committee will continue at work. Powerful pressure is being brought to bear on the recalcitrant Southern Pacific, and Governor Wells hopes that the special train may yet become an accomplished fact.

Governor Wells has not decided as yet when he will go to San Francisco to meet the volunteers. He said yesterday that he would not go out this week, but might possibly go later on. General Burton will officially welcome the batteries when they land on American soil. He will represent the governor in this pleasant duty, and leaves for the coast one day this week. The exact date of his departure has not yet been decided upon, but it will probably be Wednesday next.

FUNERAL OF GUY WILLIS

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES AT LATE RESIDENCE.

Large Number of Friends Assembled to Pay a Last Tribute to the Dead.

Embedded in a mass of beautiful flowers and surrounded by a large concourse of relatives, neighbors and friends, the earthly remains of Guy Willis lay at the family home on Jefferson street yesterday afternoon, while the services for the dead were performed by those who fully appreciated the character of the man. The religious services were in charge of Dr. W. M. Paden of the First Presbyterian church, who in his brief remarks laid special stress upon the loyalty and the integrity that formed the groundwork of Guy Willis' life.

The speaker thought it a beautiful way to leave this life, with such a reputation, based upon such a character, a character that would last throughout eternity. Both Dr. Paden and the friends of the family who spoke later added their testimony to that of all who had been intimate with Mr. Willis in life, whether a neighbor, friend or associate in lodge or business, that he was a faithful husband, a pure, true, and manly man, under all circumstances.

The music for the occasion was by the H. S. Goddard quintette. The floral offerings were especially fine and testified to the high esteem in which the departed had been held by all who knew him. The floral drapings for the coffin and a large bouquet were from Mr. Willis' companions in the bank; a beautiful piece, "Gates Ajar," was from M. H. and J. B. Walker; a large pillow with the word, "Rest," in immortal letters, was from Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Walker, Jr.; beautiful bouquets from Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Howard, Morton J. Cheesman and L. H. Farnsworth; a large pillow from Mesdames Reeves, Murphy, Dixon and McDonald; a star from Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hill; a lamp from Miss E. D. Elliott; a wreath from Mrs. E. D. Smith; a magnificent piece, "Rest," from W. J. Halloran and family; a large pillow from Calanthe Lodge K. of P.; an anchor from H. K. Atkins; a large shield from the Veteran Firemen's association; a Maltese cross from Chief James Devine; and beautiful bouquets of roses, carnations and sweet peas from Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lippman, L. Francis Zulch, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. Hector Gleiswald, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph George, and other friends of the family.

The pallbearers were L. H. Farnsworth, H. R. M. Atkinson, W. J. Halloran, James Devine, E. D. Howard and Joseph Lippman. The funeral was held at the residence of Mr. Willis, a member, attended the funeral in person and accompanied the remains to the Calanthe Lodge cemetery. The services were in charge of the Knights of Pythias and the burial was in conformity with the ritual of that order. The audience for the funeral was quite large and upon all sides could be heard praises of the many good traits of the dead man and sympathy for his bereaved wife.

Frank Willis, a brother of the deceased, from Denver, was present at the services.

Rev. Richard Wake On Philippine Conquests.

EVIL MUST BE UNDONE

VICES FOR MISSIONARIES TO CURE.

Methodist Minister's Stirring Words On the Manner in Which the Insurrection Is Being "Crushed" On the Island of Luzon—Services at Other Churches.

"We have gone to the Philippines with the gun in one hand and the rum bottle in the other; we will follow there with our vices and diseases, and then we will send missionaries to undo the evil."

This is Rev. Richard Wake's idea as to what is now going on at Manila. The stirring words were uttered by Mr. Wake in a sermon on the "Second Coming of Christ" delivered last evening from the pulpit of the First M. E. church.

The sermon was largely doctrinal. Many passages of Scripture were quoted to refute the Seventh Day Adventist idea that Christ's coming would be spectacular, and that he would appear to a kingdom on earth. This the speaker argued would make Christ a local character. He is nearer now than he would be if he established himself in London, New York, Chicago or Salt Lake. Where two or three are met together now, in his name, Christ is in the midst of them, in any part of the earth.

SEERMON ON HEREDITY.

Influence of Ancestry and Environment.

Rev. I. E. Goshen, who is occupying the pulpit at the First Congregational church during Rev. C. T. Brown's absence, delivered an excellent sermon yesterday morning. He took for his text the Proverb: "He that walketh with wise men shall be wise; but a companion of fools shall be destroyed."

In beginning, Mr. Goshen compared the influence of heredity and environment, saying that while it is true that a man's working capital comes through ancestry, it is also true that man is largely moulded by surroundings and associates. In shaping the praise of heroes, we must remember that they are in a large measure representative of the generation in which they lived, of the same flesh and blood as their fellows, but greater only as the mountain is greater than the foothill which makes it possible.

The life of a growing child shows clearly the influence of environment. We are born with certain tendencies upon each other through the power of association. Robert Burns' life is an example of genius ruined by evil associations. Coleridge's life teaches the tragedy of the power of evil influences. One will not associate with the victim of a contagious disease, and in no less a degree should young people shun evil companions. Vice is a monster that is such hideous nature that to be hated needs but to be seen, but sooner often, we first endure, then pity, then embrace.

Good associations have just as strong a power in the opposite direction. Refinement comes only through noble associations. In building character he satisfied only with the best—build it so that it shall be the one possession that shall survive the wreck of the years.

In closing, Mr. Goshen said: "Do not venture the rich freightage of your happiness in crazy vessels. If you do, do so that some one else may be saved. Your life is ended, the poor frail craft will strike on some black rock rising sheer from the depths and will grind itself to powder. If you live, live in a round way, for God for strength, be sure that sometime or other the stay to which its tendrils cling will be plucked up, and the poor vine will be crushed, its clusters crushed and its sap bleed out of it."

AT THE TABERNACLE.

Five Returned Missionaries Deliver Talks.

Counselor Joseph E. Taylor presided at the meeting in the tabernacle yesterday afternoon. The opening prayer was offered by Bishop C. H. Taylor of the Fourth ward, and the choir sang, "God Moves in a Mysterious Way."

Counselor Taylor stated that the following elders were present and that they had just returned from missions to the places indicated: Francis Seemiller, Germany; George H. Crow, Pennsylvania; John T. Edwards, Scotland; Leonard A. Stevens, Florida; and Byron A. West, California. The elders spoke in the order indicated, giving a report of their respective missions. The young men related incidents of missionary life, and all stated that they had enjoyed their labors. From the reports given it was shown that the different missions represented by these elders were in a flourishing condition and that more missionaries are wanted everywhere. The services closed by the choir singing, "Let the Mountains Shout For Joy," and the audience singing the song, "Doxology." The benediction was pronounced by Joseph E. Taylor.

TALKED ABOUT MEXICO.

Miss Everett Tells Something of Greaser Religion.

Miss Mina S. Everett of Las Vegas, N. M., spoke last evening at the East Side Baptist church on "The Dawning of Truth in Mexico." Miss Everett has spent some time in missionary work in Mexico, and is a very pleasing speaker. She said that the people of Mexico are thirsting for truth. Cortez brought what she called the "curse of Romanism" to Mexico, and since then the people have worshiped wooden crosses and a human god whom they call "The Lady of Water." The worst aspect of the situation was better than the present. The people of Mexico are under very many delusions; a tangled web hangs over them, and it seems there is no way out of it. But there is a way, and that way is to take the message of truth to them.

In a political way there is much that is pleasant to think of. President Diaz is trying to separate the church and state, and has done all in his power to found public schools.

"Through the work of our missionaries," said Miss Everett, "Mexico's redemption is nigh. The night has been dark, but the sun is rising, and the clouds of superstition are passing away."

Miss Everett closed with an earnest exhortation to the ladies of her church to aid the Mexican missions.

DENVER.

ALL TALKED TITHING.

Big Crowd Attends Midsummer Conference at Provo.

(Special Correspondence.) Provo, July 23.—A large concourse gathered today to attend the midsummer conference. The tabernacle was crowded at both morning and afternoon sessions. President Lorenzo Snow was the first speaker. He spoke of the importance of tithing, and urged the people to obey this law. He spoke of the blessings derived from such obedience; dwelt at length on the negligence of many, and read from the Doctrine and Covenants on the duties of Latter-day Saints in this respect. In closing he said: "And I now say to you that this law will not be so lenient with you in the future as he has in the past, but will require you to observe this law in its fullness or you will not enjoy his blessings."

Bishop Preston spoke on the time when the law of tithing was first given, and also remarked on the advantage of parents in training up their children to understand and respect the law of tithing.

At the afternoon session a list of church officials was read and sustained. President Snow was also present and spoke. He referred to President Snow's prophecy in the morning, concerning this law, and stated that if it were not obeyed, according to this prophecy, the Lord would look upon this people with disfavor.

Elder W. B. Douglass gave a few words on the same subject and gave illustrations from the temporal and eternal laws gained by observing the law of tithing. The next speaker was Apostle Tensdale, who spoke on the privileges of paying tithing and also exhorted the people to pay their tithing, but to do so with a pure heart, and to do so to the glorification of God.

Elder Le Roi Snow, son of President Snow, was called up out of the congregation and asked to speak. He bore his testimony as to the truth of the law of tithing, and said that he should observe it, saying that it is the duty of every one, whether poor or rich, to pay tithing to the Lord, one-tenth of all the Lord has given him.

President Cannon arose and endorsed the remarks made by his brethren before him. He spoke briefly on the consequences attendant on the disobedience of the law of tithing, and exhorted the people to seek God and know from him what is right and then do what is right.

Apostle Francis M. Lyman also spoke, after which the choir sang a hymn and the conference was adjourned.

(Special Correspondence.) St. George, July 20.—The De Lamar mill and mine employees subscribed from their payrolls $44 for the benefit of the last payroll of the late Frank Carter, who died recently from the effects of the mill dust. Brick work on the walls of the main building has been going on for ten days now, and is making rapid progress. An enormous silo is now being excavated, which, when completed, will be 30 feet high. The silo is being excavated by a steam engine, and the earth is being carried on extensively.

Child's Arm Broken. (Special Correspondence.) Vernal, July 21.—Lila, the eldest daughter of Commissioner McKee, sustained a severe fracture of the left arm yesterday, the result of a fall from a horse. TO SURVEY UTAH COUNTY

ENGINEERING PARTY STARTS OUT THIS WEEK.

Work Will Be Very Complete—Several Months' Time Will Be Required to Finish It.

Surveyors from Washington have reached the city and will leave Tuesday or Wednesday for Utah county to make a thorough and complete topographical survey of that section. The party will be under the direction of Jeremiah Ahern of the United States geographical survey, Washington, D. C., who is stopping at the Knutsford.

"Utah county has never had a topographical survey," said Mr. Ahern last evening, "and we have been ordered by the government to prepare maps of it. Our work will be very complete and extend over a period of several months. It will have nothing to do with the geological or mineral features, but will deal entirely with the surface, and be purely topographical. The survey will show every mountain and contour of the ground, every stream and forest, and every house and building in the county. The teams and outfit for the expedition arrived here several days ago, and I expect to get to work within a day or two."

White's Cream Vermifuge is the one worm remedy that does every possible good without the possibility of harm. It is a purely vegetable preparation that cannot fail to expel worms. If your child is restless, fails to grow, if it is dark under the eyes, if it is fretful or if it sleeps poorly, the chances are that the worms are saprophytic, and are endangering its life. You can use Cream Vermifuge with absolute certainty of results. Large bottles, small bottles, 50c and 25c.
